

Atticus Estudio is a company of Spanish origin specialized in designing, constructing, reforming and equipping hotels. Our services include multiple specialities, but all of them are ruled by the same criteria of quality, efficiency and excellence. We have been executing projects in Europe and Asia for many years under various brand names and now we have begun to introduce ourselves in the Caribbean with a unique name, Atticus Estudio, which encompasses all our services. The objective of the company is to offer the best integral solutions for the hotel, tourism and leisure sectors.

Interior design is undoubtedly one of our strengths, we can collaborate with our customers to make their dream hotel come true, providing solutions that enrich the project. Our condition as furniture manufacturers gives us a special adaptability and agility when carrying out projects. No matter the style or material, we have the right professionals and facilities to produce any type of piece.
